SENIOR CLASS TO PRESENT "THE SILVER WHISTLE"

Joe Schnelzer, Shelley Todd, Ann Halusic, Debbie Soles, with Debbie Harriger and Karen Thompson seated in the foreground.

The Moon High School's Class of 1965 will present "The Silver Whistle", a three-act play written by Robert E. McEnroe, on Thursday, November 5, and Friday, November 6 in the Moon High Auditorium. The play, a comedy with a sound philosophical basis, stars Robert Barnes, Jane Whittick and Daniel Mihalyi in the read roles.

Under the direction of Mrs. Beryl MacLean, English instructor, and the student direction of Valerie Welch, the play is concerned with the philosophy, "You are only as young as you feel," which is taken from the poem, "Rubiya" by Omar Khayyam. The story has its setting in an old folks' home.

The varied personalities inside and out of the home, who make the play a success are appropriately played by Robert Barnes, Jane Whittick, Daniel Mihalyi, David Goss, Barbara Gryswacz, Sandra Shaw, Nancy Stewart, Juanita Ankrom, Richard Trimmer, Thomas Fenton, Michael Waldusk, Joseph Schnelzer, Brock McMunn, Robert Hogue and Edward Heinlein. Edward Heinlein also serves as the Production Manager of the play.

The combination of humor, wisdom, and romance in "The Silver Whistle" make it a more than worthwhile evening's entertainment. Performances begin at 7:30 P.M. Thursday and 8 P.M. Friday evenings.
